One Million Euro Koinange Project Fund On Saturday 6 June 2014 the European Commission announced the 1 Million Euro Koinange Fund. The Fund aims to develop a European network of local knowledge on how to support entrepreneurship, training and project management. Koinange is the word for an idea that has been fully implemented and developed. It comes from the Italian word for 'to make real'. The Fund has been launched in response to the call to action by the European Commission, in its work programme for 2014. It is financed by the European Commission's EuropeAid budget. Read more about the Fund's background here. More information about the Fund and ways to get involved will be published in the coming weeks on the Fund's website. Eden (Native American woman) Eden was a Native American woman who was an important figure in the history of the Pawnee people in the late 18th century. She was the daughter of the Pawnee leader Nana-Kah-Tau-Gee, or Flying Grass Woman, and the niece of the Pawnee leader Shonidee. In 1786, the US Army under the command of George Rogers Clark captured Eden and her father as they were on their way back to the Pawnee people following a raid on the Shawnee people, who were enemies of the Pawnee. Clark took Eden and her father to Fort Knox, Kentucky, where she was held captive until her father was released. The US Army demanded a ransom for her release. After her father paid the ransom, Eden was returned to the Pawnee people. Her mother, who was opposed to her being taken by Clark

Migration from DOS to Windows 10 In case you are not familiar with it, here are the guidelines for migrating from DOS to Windows 10. Before you start If you don't have an old floppy disk, you will need a floppy disk drive emulator, because DOS commands like FDISK are Windows exclusive. You can use DFS to do this. Alternatively, you can use DOSBox, which is a DOS emulator that supports mouse and keyboard as well as all DOS commands. Use full disk encryption if you are worried about
