This, along with the fact that many international students are students in the United States temporarily, leads to the conclusion that they are capable of coming to this country and succeeding. By partnering with the Institute of Chartered Professors, the students who are interested in business, law, healthcare, education, social work or any other field can establish an excellent foundation for their future careers. The ICP is eager to share the experiences of current and past students, graduates and scholars with schools across the globe, especially those that offer programs in these fields. As a member of the ICP, Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine (VMR) is proud to provide to the ICP a wide range of scholarship awards and support for current and former students. We would like to establish an ICP scholarship fund at VMR, as part of our commitment to our students. If you would be interested in being a part of this effort, please send us an e-mail at [email protected]. VMR has provided a number of scholarships to outstanding veterinary
